

SUMMER RESIDENTIAL COMPONENT

OPT-OUT FORM

Due March 5, 2022

Student Name _____

Check all that apply:

- This is my first summer opting out of the residential component
- I am not a first year participant

The Upward Bound summer component is an academic college simulation experience that lasts for 6 weeks. Students will be permitted to miss five consecutive full days of the Summer Component and up to two non-consecutive weeks. If a student would need to miss more than two weeks of the Summer Component or more than five days in a row, he or she should consider opting out of the residential component and complete an online component instead. Students may request approval to opt out of the residential component by submitting this form on or before the due date.

First year participants are ineligible to opt out of the residential component.

Why can you not participate in the summer residential component?

- Other academic requirements
- Other extracurricular requirements
- Family obligations
- Preference to work
- Other not listed above: _____

I understand by signing below I will be opted out of the summer residential component but will still be required to participate in the online summer component, which is the duration of the summer residential program. I will fulfill my online component requirements and continue active participation once the academic year begins. I understand if I do not meet my online summer component requirements, I could be removed from the Upward Bound program permanently.
